

Architectural Record announces the launch of the Leicester B. Holland Prize, an annual competition that recognizes the best single-sheet measured drawing of an historic building, site, or structure prepared to the standards of the Historic American Buildings Survey (HABS), Historic American Engineering Record (HAER), or Historic American Landscapes Survey (HALS) of the National Park Service. The prize honors Leicester B. Holland, FAIA, of the Library of Congress, the first curator of the HABS collection and a co-founder of the program. It is supported by the Paul Rudolph Trust and the Center for Architecture, Design & Engineering in the Library of Congress, and administered by the NPS programs. The prize is intended to increase awareness, knowledge, and appreciation of historic sites while adding to the permanent HABS, HAER and HALS collection at the Library of Congress. It is also designed to reinvigorate the art of architectural delineation and composition in the tradition established by the Ecole des Beaux Arts. Architectural Record magazine will publish the winning drawing, and the winner will receive a $1000 cash prize and a certificate of recognition. Merit awards will also be given. The entry deadline is June 30, 2011 (for guidelines and information see: <http://www.nps.gov/history/hdp/jobs/index.htm>).
